TOMORROW'S SILK ROAD: ASSESSING AN EU-CHINA FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

Study leaders: Jacques Pelkmans and Joseph Francois

This book offers an independent, wide-ranging and in-depth analysis of a possible Free Trade Area between the EU and China. The design of the FTA is suggested to be 'deep and comprehensive', with extensive qualitative evidence in nine different domains of such a FTA, including investment. In addition, it provides a cutting-edge quantitative impact analysis (based on the newest CGE modelling).

BRITAIN'S FUTURE IN EUROPE: THE KNOWN PLAN A TO REMAIN OR THE UNKNOWN PLAN B TO LEAVE Michael Emerson

The first edition of this book, published in March 2015, laid the foundations for any objective assessment of the workings of the EU and the UK's place in it. It was widely acclaimed and rated as "a myth-breaking exercise of the best kind".

This second edition adds a substantial new chapter following Cameron's agreement with the EU and announcement of the referendum. It reviews both the 'Plan A', namely the status quo for the UK in the EU as amended by the new agreement, and three variants of a 'Plan B' for secession. The key point is that the 'leave' camp have not done their homework or 'due diligence' to specify the post-secession scenario, or how the British government would face up to the challenges that this would bring. The authors therefore do the 'leave' camp's homework for them, setting out three Plan Bs more concretely and in more depth than the 'leave' camp have been able or wanted to do, or any other source has done.

The book is therefore unique and essential reading for anyone concerned with the fateful choice that lies soon ahead.

IRREGULAR MIGRATION, TRAFFICKING AND SMUGGLING OF HUMAN BEINGS: POLICY DILEMMAS IN THE EU

Sergio Carrera and Elspeth Guild

The expert contributors to this edited volume, representing a multidisciplinary selection of academics, examine the treatment of irregular migration, human trafficking and smuggling in EU law and policy. The various chapters explore the policy dilemmas encountered in efforts to criminalise irregular migration and humanitarian assistance to irregular immigrants. The book aims to provide academic input to informed policy-making in the next phase of the European Agenda on Migration.

EUROPE'S UNTAPPED CAPITAL MARKET: RETHINKING FINANCIAL INTEGRATION AFTER THE CRISIS

Diego Valiante

In the aftermath of the great financial crisis, the lack of risk diversification in the European financial system, i.e. limited cross-border banking and capital markets activities, is the main cause of the fast retrenchment of capital flows within national boundaries. Europe needs private risk sharing mechanisms to withstand asymmetric shocks, such as the recent financial crisis. An EU-wide action to promote competition among national capital markets could free up to €1.8 trillion in cash and deposits to invest cross-border in more profitable and riskier projects to create growth and jobs.

BANKING UNION AS A SHOCK ABSORBER: LESSONS FOR THE EUROZONE FROM THE US

Daniel Gros and Ansgar Belke

This study investigates the shock-absorbing properties of a banking union. It makes a detailed comparison between the way in which banking unions have absorbed regional financial shock at the federal level in the US, but have led to severe regional (national) financial dislocation and tensions in Europe, particularly within the eurozone.

MONEY, FINANCE AND THE REAL ECONOMY - WHAT WENT WRONG?

Anton Brender, Florence Pisani and Emile Gagna

The functions of the financial system of a developed economy are often poorly understood. This can largely be attributed to free-market ideology, which has spread the belief that leaving finance to its own devices provides the best possible mechanism for allocating savings.

In this book, the authors analyse the close links between money, finance and the real economy and show why the substantial potential of saving, rather than being an opportunity for the world economy, could threaten it with 'secular stagnation'.

GREEN, PINK & SILVER - THE FUTURE OF LABOUR IN EUROPE VOL. 2

Miroslav Beblavý, Ilaria Maselli and Marcela Veselkova

Work is both an essential part of our daily lives and one of the major policy concerns across Europe. In this second volume of The Future of Labour in Europe, the authors explain, in accessible language, the findings of the NEUJOBS project on the job prospects of key industries and groups of people. Using the colours green, pink and silver, they pinpoint areas with both the greatest challenges and potential. The conclusions are addressed to policy-makers, the business world, journalists, fellow academics and to anyone interested in the labour markets of tomorrow.

BRITAIN'S FUTURE IN EUROPE REFORM, RENEGOTIATION, REPATRIATION OR SECESSION?

Edited by Michael Emerson

Drawing on over 3,000 pages of independent assessments of whether the distribution of powers between the EU and the member states is right or needs to be changed, this book offers a succinct, objective and comprehensive review of the evidence, the source of which is the British government's own research project, Review of the Balance of Competences between the United Kingdom and the European Union. The case for policy reform, renegotiation or repatriation of powers is presented across 32 different policy areas. The picture that emerges is far more nuanced and refined than suggested by the rhetoric that surrounds this crucial debate on Britain's future in Europe.

This extraordinarily fair-minded and balanced book is a mythbusting exercise of the best kind. Meticulously boiling down every single European policy field to its very essence, the authors (one of Europe's leading think tank teams) are replacing misperception and misrepresentation with sober facts and sound assessments. What they offer is a non-romantic, no-spin, jargon-free, no-hyperbole guidebook to the Brexit debate, highly useful for everyone who wants to navigate this fateful question with a cool head and clear vision."

MORE UNION IN EUROPEAN DEFENCE

Chair: Javier Solana

Rapporteurs: Steven Blockmans and Giovanni Faleg

Years of uncoordinated cuts in defence spending have eroded the EU's role as a security actor in what is now a multipolar world. This CEPS Task Force report aims to provide member states and the EU institutions with the narrative to strengthen defence cooperation in the EU, in the face of numerous emergencies in the EU's strategic neighbourhood and ever-present security threats. The report is a record of the deliberations over several months between high-level experts in the field of European security and defence, who conclude that the Treaty of Lisbon demands and permits a great deal more in terms of our common security and defence activities. And that member states could achieve much more value for money than the €190 billion that they spend to keep up 28 national armies, comprising roughly 1.5 million service personnel.

THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF THE 2014-2020 COMMON AGRICULTURAL POLICY: AN IMPERFECT STORM

Johan Swinnen

This book is the first to document the reform of the EU's Common Agricultural Policy and to analyse the political and economic factors that determined the outcome of the negotiations. The policy (non-) reform, which will affect the world's global food security and agricultural commodity markets, will cost the EU €400 billion over the next seven years. The book includes contributions by top political negotiators and leading EU experts and academic analysts.

ACCESS TO ELECTRONIC DATA BY THIRD-COUNTRY LAW ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITIES: CHALLENGES TO EU RULE OF LAW AND FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS

Sergio Carrera, Gloria González Fuster, Elspeth Guild and Valsamis Mitsilegas

This study examines the challenges to European law posed by third-country access to data held by private companies for purposes of law-enforcement investigations in criminal proceedings. The proliferation of electronic communications is putting cloud-computing companies under severe strain from multiple demands from the authorities to acquire access to such data.
